

Chapter 5

THE OPPOSITION

Some years back a consultant paediatrician referred several children to me for treatment from a major teaching hospital on the South coast of England and they all made incredible recoveries. She had heard about my work initially because I had cured one of her patients. This child was about eight years old and from birth she had I.B.S. coughed continuously, was considerably underweight, physically sick all the time and very irritable. She was admitted to hospital on a regular basis and all they could offer her was a bedside drip, they had been treating her for years. They just didn't know what to do with her.

Eventually her mother brought her to see me, I carried out a food intolerance test and she became a normal healthy child within a few months.

There's a testimonial letter from her mother later in the book.

Anyway, the point I'm making is that the hospital managers found out about the consultant sending children to me for food intolerance testing and they threatened to terminate her contract if she sent anymore. The fact that I actually made the children healthy was totally irrelevant to them.

I offered to teach the consultant how to use this scanner so that she could get one into the hospital and treat the children herself. She was keen but unfortunately the powers that be were not, so that was the end of that. This was just one of many examples of rejection by the medical world over the years. You will read of many more later in this book. People often say it must be very frustrating for me to have a scanning system that makes people healthy and to get rejected like that. I'm well used to the medical profession not wanting to know

Okay!...I've proved it makes people healthy so why are they not interested?

Well...I think one reason is that the higher people go up the management ladder the less they want to...or are allowed to make decisions.

But why?...I hear you say.

Because it's far safer to leave things as they are than to risk making a decision. If you make a bad decision when your running a hospital and/or government department and your on a salary of say £140,000 a year or more then you have a long way to fall. So!...the safest way is to leave things as they are. That way you continue to rake in your fat salary and you don't risk upsetting anybody.

But why you say would they not want this equipment when it has been proven to make people healthy...surely the patients come first?

I guess it's because the system as it is makes billions of pounds each and every year and provides large salaries for drug company executives and those in power.

Pharmaceutical companies make huge profits from selling drugs and governments rake in colossal sums from taxes on drugs. It works very nicely! So everyone's happy apart from the patient that is, who spends a lot of money on long-term medication and continues to suffer. I'll leave you to make your own decision as to whose pockets are being lined. Hopefully public opinion will eventually force governments to act and then something will have to be done. The crazy thing is if politicians really cared about the people they represented and actually changed the system then my bet is that they would make more money by having a country full of healthy people. Firstly!...We wouldn't need nearly as many hospital beds and doctors as we do now, so billions of pounds would be saved each and every year. There would also be millions more people in work instead of sitting at home and living off sickness benefit. These new healthy people would then be paying taxes into the system and not taking money from the system. And that's just the tip of the iceberg, I'm sure there must be a vast number of other ways that both the government and the public would benefit.

You may well say that all the decision makers in health and government can't be the same, surely there are some that would want to do the right thing where the public are concerned. Yes!...I have no doubt that there are some with good intentions but there's this huge brick wall out there called

'THE ESTABLISHMENT'

It's been around for a very long time and it's very well protected. And I can assure you that it takes more than a single individual or a group of do-gooders to knock that wall down.

Again you might ask: Is it that the people at the top just don't believe you or that they think it can't possibly work?

These people are not fools. They know exactly what the score is. They know that if they took too much of an interest in this technology then they would have to incorporate it into the public healthcare system; or come up with a convincing explanation to the public as to why they didn't. It's called progress and there are many people out there in the world of medicine that would rather turn a blind eye to it for their own selfish reasons. But one thing they can never argue with are results and I get them all the time.

My father used to say:

“There are none as blind as those that will not see.”

How true!

I travel the world a great deal in my work and wherever I go I'm always very busy. But I'd be totally swamped with patients if the greater majority of people throughout the world knew of my work and the results I get. But for that to happen I need to get to the masses. Simply scanning a person or doing occasional radio and TV interviews or relying on recommendations and editorials will never get the word out to any great extent. It's just too big a world out there so that's why I've written this book.

You may say: ‘Why don't you advertise on the radio or TV or in the national press, you could get to a lot of people that way.’

Tried it!...I can't get a licence to advertise and secondly have you seen the cost of advertising on national radio or television and in the national newspapers?...they're talking telephone numbers. It's only the drug companies that can afford those prices. Even if I were to be granted a licence, such a high cost of advertising would push my scanning fees through the roof. Thus leaving only the rich to benefit from this treatment. To advertise anything medical on TV/radio or in the national press you're application has to be vetted by a medical committee to see if you can be granted a licence, so there lies another problem.

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

The committee is made up of doctors and people from within that big brick wall and they have no intention of letting people like me in. So you go round in ever decreasing circles and get nowhere as usual. It's just THE ESTABLISHMENT protecting itself once again with its well tested and finely tuned self-defence mechanism.

You've never seen an Alternative Health Therapist advertising on television...have you?

All you see on TV are drugs promoted by the big boys. Almost every advertising break has at least one drug for sale sometimes two or three. They have it all to themselves, after all they've got the money and no doubt they look after the right people... if you know what I mean. It would be interesting to check just how many ex-Health Ministers and/or other government ministers or management of the NHS were given a seat on the board of drug companies over the past 50 years or so and I wonder also just how many brown envelopes may have changed hands along the way.

Do you really think that if I discovered how to run a car on water that I'd have any chance of marketing it? There are just too many powerful people out there making vast sums of money from oil. I'd have no chance...Would I?

Well it's the same with 'Drugs' and the health business.

I've written to two or three different Health Ministers and a few Prime Ministers over the years telling them of my work and offering to carryout FREE clinical trials in hospitals in order to prove it's effectiveness beyond doubt. I didn't get a single reply (apart from Tony Blair, see Appendix 2). It seems I was wrong to assume that they would be interested.

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

I can only come to the conclusion therefore that they are all part of the same set-up and it's all a big game to them. I suppose the system as it is generates vast sums of money every year in taxes and I guess there's no way they want to risk changing that.

As I said before if people got better the government would save billions of pounds every year by not having to pay out for hospitals and doctors and unnecessary drugs and sickness claims. But to make such far-reaching changes to a monster such as the NHS would upset a lot of very powerful people and I don't think that would go down too well within The Establishment.

There are after all election funds to consider.

Maybe once you have read this book you would be kind enough to email your Prime Minister, President or Health Minister and ask them why you are not being allowed to have this scanning system in your hospitals when it has been proven to cure most everyday health problems without drugs. Please send me a copy of their reply...I would be most interested.

My email address is: intolerance@healthscan.co.uk

I would very much welcome the chance to ask the PM or Health Minister that and many other questions 'live' on TV if anyone is prepared to produce such a programme.

I have a theory and it's only a theory. I have no way of proving it one way or the other but another reason that governments around the world don't want to change anything is possibly that as the system is at the moment most people die at around 60 or 70 years of age...give or take a few years. And for most of our lives we buy drugs in one form or another just to get by from day-to-day and governments all over the world make a great deal of money from the tax we pay on those drugs. In my opinion it is just conceivable that the use of these drugs cause their own long-term health problems and possibly kill us off years before we would have died anyway. Now! Think about this...until we get to 60 for women and 65 for men we pay money to the government in the form of income tax and after that they pay us in the form of a pension. So therefore it's obviously not in the government's financial interest that we should live too long after our retirement age.

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

Well!...Heavy or not it does make you think!...Hold on I have a report here somewhere.

This was taken from BBC Ceefax on Tuesday 17th July 2001.

It reads:

A Tobacco company commissioned an internal report on their industry in Czechoslovakia and presented it to the government.

It showed that premature deaths of smokers left the government $100 million better off in 1999 with regard to healthcare and pensions.

So!...The government actually saved $100 million in 'ONE YEAR' from the premature deaths of smokers by not having to care for them in hospitals and by not having to pay them a pension.

Plus!

The government made a vast amount of revenue from the tax the poor souls paid on the cigarettes in the first place. Now just think about it: if Czechoslovakia can save $100 million a year in that way how much do you think the UK government or the US government saves through premature deaths each and every year? And I don't just mean tobacco related deaths!

Is that how governments see us when we're ill and elderly...as a financial liability?

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

Yeah!...I know!...Interesting don't you think? I doubt if any country could afford to be top heavy with pensioners. But as I say it's only a theory, I don't know one way or the other but when they don't even reply to my letters which I sent with testimonial letters and masses of researched editorials from national newspapers...plus loads of other information it does make you wonder just what is going on up there in those great corridors of power.

Another option:

What about Health Insurance companies? They'd be good to approach; it would save them a fortune as they wouldn't have to keep paying out for expensive tests for their members. And what about the various charity organisations that are set up to promote research into Eczema and Migraine etc. Surely they'd be interested in my work? Been there!...Read the book!...Seen the video!...They all have their own little (tax free) empires running and there making a nice fat living!...So the last thing they would want is change.

But surely (you say) they are there to help people find a cure isn't that why they were set up in the first place?

Well it would be nice to think so! But I've run clinical trials for lots of these groups over the years and I've proved that my scanning works and still nothing happens.

But why not? (you say) if you're making people better...surely that's what they want isn't it?

Well, I used to think that too but just stop for a moment and think about it from their point of view. You're a director of a large charity or other organisation set up to promote good health in one field or another and you've got say 80,000 members or more.

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

Each of these members is paying you say £20 (or more) a year in membership fees and you are probably getting a hefty government grant as well. In addition these types of company are often registered charities so you don't have to pay tax. Your charity also earns a nice little income each year from selling thousands of so-called 'helpful' books and other such products to your members. Plus they get considerable revenue from people advertising in their literature. Then this guy from Health Scan comes along with a computer that can make your members better! Holy smoke! Do you really want to allow him into your organisation! Hey!...that's the last thing you'd want. If he started making your members better you'd go out of business.

Oh!...And as far as the Health Insurance Companies are concerned you can be very sure indeed that they take in in premiums far more than they pay out in claims otherwise they wouldn't be there in the first place. Its fear of ill health that makes people take out insurance. So they wouldn't want to promote a computerised scanning system that could wipe out 80% of health problems would they!

Yes!...I can see it now!...drug companies and governments throughout the world will do all they can to assure the public that this technology is nonsense; they'll come up with every trick in the book in order to fight it.

Vegetarian Groups!...Migraine organisations!...Eczema and dozens of other such organisations will all be up in arms. But the public are not stupid, once they've read this book and tried the diet that I've recommended for two months or so they'll see the results for themselves and be able to make up their own minds.

WHY DOCTORS DON'T MAKE YOU HEALTHY.

Doctors from time to time come up with the same old argument that Alternative Medicine isn't real medicine. Well if they care to look back before the good old days of 'Conventional Medicine' they will see that there were other ways of treating the sick. So therefore conventional medicine could also be said to be alternative.

- ❖ Text was written as far back as 1250BC on healthcare treatments with electric eels.
- ❖ Dr William Gilbert wrote a book on electricity and the body in the 1600's.
- ❖ In 1752 Johann Schaeffer wrote a book on Electrical Medicine.
- ❖ 1830. Carlo Matteucci showed how Electrical Medicine could regenerate body tissue.
- ❖ In 1858 Dr Francis used Electrical Medicine to relieve dental pain.

So let's not hear talk about 'Alternative' medicine being inferior all forms of medicine are alternative to one another. Just because alternative treatments and therapies are different from conventional medicine it doesn't make them any less effective, in fact in many cases such as in my work it makes them more effective.

The best way to judge any form of medicine is by results.
